The Future of Privacy Forum (FPF) is a global non-profit organization that brings together industry, academics, civil society, policymakers, and other stakeholders to explore the challenges posed by technological innovation and develop privacy protections, ethical norms, and workable business practices. We are an independent and pragmatic voice for privacy regulation and take on the tough issues of integrating privacy protections with responsible data use.

We are a platform for senior privacy executives worldwide who understand the importance of having a space to discuss business practices with other leading experts to support the development of best practices and impactful solutions.

We offer expertise to privacy executives and data protection officials across industries and geographic locations. We provide guidance and advice and develop best practices to address complex and high-stakes data protection issues.

As legislation and regulations change and play a significant role in your company’s operations, FPF provides detailed compliance-focused legislative tracking and analysis to help you understand what the regulators are considering. By flagging issues that are a matter of concern, we help members remain informed of how to move their products and services forward in a pragmatic, privacy-conscious way. We work with stakeholders to look further down the line so you and your organization can position yourself for pending issues.
